Alcohol Beverage Control Administration Announces No School Spirits PSA Contest Winner

Charleston, W.Va. – The West Virginia Alcohol Beverage Control Administration (WVABCA) will announce Capital High School as the winner of the inaugural No School Spirits PSA Contest.

WHO: Ronald M. Moats, WVABCA Commissioner
Bob Tipton, Director of WVGHSP
Erin Baily, Community Specialist State Farm®
Clinton Giles, Principal Capital High School

WHAT: The No School Spirits PSA Contest is a new initiative created to complement the existing DUI Simulator Program which visits high schools around the state educating students on the dangers of drinking and driving. The No School Spirits PSA Contest provides all high schools in West Virginia, both public and private, the opportunity to submit a one page essay or 60 second video explaining why their school should be selected to help create a PSA addressing underage drinking and/or drinking and driving and receive a $1,000 award to use for their project graduation event. This program is funded by State Farm®, the West Virginia Governor's Highway Safety Program, and the National Alcohol Beverage Control Association.

WHEN: 11:45 a.m. Wednesday, April 2

WHERE: Capital High School – main entrance
